This rosé by Australian winemaker Michael Slater is being launched initially through selected branches of Morrisons, the UK supermarket, which has a six-month exclusivity agreement.

Aimed at “discerning and aspirational young consumers”, it is described as an affordable bubbly to celebrate special occasions as well as for everyday drinking.

Produced from Colombard (49 per cent), Chardonnay (37 per cent) and Shiraz (14 per cent) grapes from both the warmer and cooler growing regions, it is soft pink in colour with a fine, creamy and persistent mouse. Lemon citrus aromas harmonise with fresh strawberry and redcurrant characters that linger on the finish.
